The Holidays are now approaching. This is a special time of the year and our veterans in hospitals and facilities require more companionship, compassion and giving assistance to bring joy to their hearts. Often separated from family, friends or even pets, our veterans feel isolated and alone during the holidays. Even though we do so much throughout the year, it's this season that makes being a hospital volunteer extra special.

Each VAVS Hospital and VA Hospital have special needs and if you call and ask the activities director or representative, they can tell you what is needed. Your Auxiliary can have Bingo parties or a Christmas party. All you need to do is ask. There are so many things that you as an auxiliary can do to make a veteran happy for the holidays. Let's help the volunteers and see if they need help during the holiday season.

You are providing a great service for our veterans in our VA medical centers, veteran's home, and all facilities who serve our veterans. Keep up the good work.

Look at the Hospital Program section of our website and you can download a wish list for Oscar G Johnson VA Medical Center in Iron Mountain, Tomah VA and the Wm. S. Middleton VA. A Zablocki VA list should be posted by the time you read this report.
